

Join Our Efforts to Improve Teaching and Learning

At Opportunity Education, we create resources and online tools to help teachers improve student engagement and learning outcomes. Would you join our efforts and help us with key projects?

With your input and collaboration we can help teachers everywhere increase student agency, provide effective feedback, and engage students in their learning.

We invite you to collaborate in one or more of the following projects, which will benefit from your professional expertise as a teacher.

1. Provide Thoughtful Feedback on Our Resources and Tools

Each month, we will request additional, thoughtful feedback on OE resources and online tools. This might involve talking with an OE team member or creating a video explaining how you used a resource, for example. We will share details each month during monthly feedback sessions, including success criteria and the value of VISA gift cards to be earned for successfully completing the feedback request (approx. equivalent to $40 per hour).

2. Share with Teachers Globally

Pitch an idea for a blog post or teacher resource. There's so much other teachers can learn from YOU and how you engage students, give students agency, and provide effective skills-focused feedback.

If you have something you'd like to share widely with other teachers, email us at professionallearning@opportunityeducation.org! In addition, OE will occasionally reach out to specific teachers to invite them to contribute.

You'll earn $50 for each blog post or resource that is published on the Opportunity Education website.

3. Participate in an OE Project

Collaborate with OE team members on a project that addresses a problem related to student agency or effective feedback. This involves participation during several project phases, including a) gathering information and learning more about teachers' needs; b) defining a problem or challenge; c) generating ideas and potential solutions; d) prototyping or piloting an experience; and e) supporting OE with developing products, features, or resources to support the solution.

You will be paid for your contributions, which will be defined in advance, and at a rate equivalent to $40 per hour.

4. Propose Your Own Project

Got a big idea you'd like to explore more? Propose a project to OE leaders by completing this form. OE will provide micro-grants up to $250 for selected projects that meet project criteria and offer effective demonstrations of the power of student agency and learning from feedback.
